ACS Broadband Access

This indicator reports the percentage of households who have access to a high speed broadband internet service in their household, such as cable, fiber optic, or DSL service, based on the 2016-2020 American Community Survey estimates. Of the 8,510 total households in the report area, 5,707 or 67.06% have cable, fiber, or DSL while 32.94% have no access to any of the high speed broadband services.

Note: The ACS2016-20 questions about internet/computer usage are not asked for the group quarters population, so data do not include people living in housing such as dorms, prisons, nursing homes, etc.

Income

Personal Income

Personal income is the income that is received by, or on behalf of, all the individuals who live in the area; therefore, the estimates of personal income are presented by the place of residence of the income recipients. Total Personal Income is calculated as the sum of earnings by place of residence (shown in below); an adjustment for those who commute into or out of the county to work; and additional adjustment for contributions to government social insurance; income derived from rental, dividends and personal interest; and personal transfer receipts.

The adjustment for commuting is positive if more earnings occur from those who commute out of the selected area to work therefore bringing earnings back into the area. The adjustment is negative if more earnings occur from people who commute into the area to work and take the earnings out of the county.

Transfer income includes payments to persons for which no current services are performed. It consists of payments to individuals by Federal, state, and local governments and by businesses. Government payments to individuals include retirement (social security, pensions) and disability insurance benefits, medical payments (mainly Medicare and Medicaid), income maintenance benefits, unemployment insurance benefits, veteran's benefits, and Federal grants and loans to students. Business payments to persons consist primarily of liability payments for personal injury and corporate gifts to nonprofit institutions. (Income maintenance payments are part of transfers and include TANF, food stamps, Supplemental Security Income, WIC, earned income tax credit and others). A negative number simply reflects that amount being paid as a total to state and federal government for FICA, Social Security, etc.

Families Earning Over $75,000

In the report area, 43.84%, or 2,036 families report a total annual income of $75,000 or greater. Total income includes all reported income from wages and salaries as well as income from self-employment, interest or dividends, public assistance, retirement, and other sources. As defined by the US Census Bureau, a family household is any housing unit in which the householder is living with one or more individuals related to him or her by birth, marriage, or adoption. A non-family household is any household occupied by the householder alone, or by the householder and one or more unrelated individuals.

Gross Rent

Gross rent is the contract rent plus the estimated average monthly cost of utilities (electricity, gas, and water and sewer) and fuels (oil, coal, kerosene, wood, etc.) if these are paid by the renter (or paid for the renter by someone else). Gross rent provides information on the monthly housing cost expenses for renters. When the data is used in conjunction with income data, the information offers an excellent measure of housing affordability and excessive shelter costs. The data also serve to aid in the development of housing programs to meet the needs of people at different economic levels, and to provide assistance to agencies in determining policies on fair rent.

High School Graduation Rate (EdFacts)

The adjusted cohort graduation rate (ACGR) is a graduation metric that follows a “cohort” of first-time 9th graders in a particular school year, and adjust this number by adding any students who transfer into the cohort after 9th grade and subtracting any students who transfer out, emigrate to another country, or pass away. The ACGR is the percentage of the students in this cohort who graduate within four years. In the report area, the adjusted cohort graduation rate was 88.9% during the most recently reported school year. Students in the report area performed worse than the state, which had an ACGR of 91.3%.
